COMMENTS FROM THE STUMP

ON NOVEMBER 28, 1996 I RECEIVED A HEART TRANSPLANT. HOWEVER, I REMAINED IN THE HOSPITAL FOR THREE MONTHS AND HAD FIVE LIFE THREATENING SETBACKS I MANAGED TO OVERCOME BEFORE BEING RELEASED TO COME HOME. I HAD TO BE READMITTED FOR ADDITIONAL COMPLICATIONS FOR SIX DAYS AFTER RETURNING HOME LAST MONTH. I HAVE MANY MONTHS OF RECUPERATION AHEAD, BUT I AM REGAINING MY STRENGTH SLOWLY AND AM ABLE TO WORK A FEW HOURS EACH DAY. NEEDLESS TO SAY THAT WITHOUT THE GUIDING HAND OF OUR LORD AND THE COUNTLESS PRAYERS OFFERED ON MY BEHALF I WOULD NOT HAVE SURVIVED THIS MOST DIFFICULT PERIOD IN MY LIFE. I WILL NEVER FORGET YOUR SUPPORT AND THANK EACH OF YOU FROM THE BOTTOM OF MY HEART.

THE MAY 3, 1997 SPRING MEETING IS FAST APPROACHING. IF ALL GOES WELL, I WILL BE ABLE TO ATTEND AND JOIN WITH ALL MY FRIENDS IN THIS GREAT AND HISTORIC MEETING. GREAT NEW MEMORABILIA WILL BE AVAILABLE AND THE NEW AND LONG AWAITED 3RD EDITION OF EDKINS CATALOGUE WILL BE AVAILABLE. A SPECIAL 25TH ANNIVERSARY MEDALLION SET, A SPECIAL .999 FINE SILVER MEDALLION, AND A SPECIAL COMMEMORATIVE STAG HANDLED CASE KNIFE WILL HIGHLIGHT THE MEETING. A 24K ONE OUNCE 25TH ANNIVERSARY MEDALLION WILL ALSO BE OFFERED ON A SPECIAL ORDER BASIS. THESE GOLD MEDALLIONS ARE PRODUCED IN A VERY LIMITED QUANTITY AND WILL NEVER BE PRODUCED AGAIN. THEY ARE NOT ONLY A GREAT COLLECTABLE, BUT THEY ARE A GREAT INVESTMENT AS WELL.

PLEASE TAKE NOTE OF OUR TWO AUCTIONS AND DON'T MISS OUT ON THE GOOD SCRIP AND MINE ARTIFACTS LISTED. ALSO, IF YOU HAVE ITEMS YOU WISH TO DISPOSE OF, SEND THEM IN FOR OUR MAIL BID AUCTIONS. WE HAVE THE LOWEST COMMISSIONS FOR ITEMS SOLD ANYWHERE.

IT IS STILL NOT TOO LATE TO MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS TO ATTEND THE SPRING MEETING. IT IS VERY IMPORTANT TO SEND IN THE RESERVATION FORM IF YOU PLAN TO ATTEND THE FRIDAY EVENING COOK OUT AND IF YOU PLAN TO HAVE TABLES FOR THE SATURDAY MEETING. WE MUST KNOW YOUR PLANS IN ADVANCE SO AS TO INFORM THE MOTEL STAFF THE EXACT NUMBER PLANNING TO ATTEND THE COOK OUT AS WE HAVE TO PAY FOR AN EXACT NUMBER. A SPECIAL FORM IS PROVIDED FOR YOUR USE AND CONVENIENCE.

OVERVIEW OF SYSTEM SCRIP MAKERS

By: Joe Feazell

In the early days of the National Scrip Collectors Association a number of excellent articles about system scrip manufacturers appeared on the pages of SCRIP TALK, COIN WORLD, TAMS JOURNAL and other numismatic publications. Many of our current NSCA members had not yet started collecting scrip and are unaware of these articles. It is the intent of this article to acquaint our newer members with this information, and refresh the memories of our older members.

Trade tokens were not an invention of the coal companies, nor were they invented by the system scrip manufacturers. Trade tokens - and essentially that is what scrip tokens are - were used as a convenient method of extending credit while at the same time simplifying bookkeeping. Before trade tokens came into use, a storekeeper had to write down each item purchased along with the price. This cumbersome system involved the keeping of ledger books and totaling up each customer's bill. Mistakes in adding could lead to disputes and loss of goodwill among customers.

Trade tokens were much easier to use: a customer decided how much credit he needed and signed an I.O.U. Tokens in the amount of the I.O.U. were then given to the customer, who used the tokens in the same fashion as real money. On payday the customer paid his bill and received his I.O.U. back as a receipt.

Token manufacturers freely copied each other's tokens and it was not too difficult for an unscrupulous person to obtain tokens that mimicked those of a legitimate issuer. Although obtained under false pretenses, this really wasn't counterfeiting, since there was no copyright or patent on the tokens or their design. Some tokens were 'signed' by the manufacturer, usually in miniscule letters hidden somewhere on the tokens. This may have been an effort to thwart illegal copying of tokens, but I suspect it was merely following the custom of coin and medal designers, who usually sign their work.

Businessmen and token makers alike were concerned about illegal copying of tokens. The S. D. Childs Company in Chicago patented a bimetallic token in 1899 and their advertising literature notes that the two-metal design helped prevent counterfeiting. But Childs' patent pertained to the actual method of making tokens, rather than the design of the token itself. A. W. Hamner apparently had the right idea when he obtained a Copyright for tokens using his method in 1897, but his tokens never gained wide popularity.

Edwin, David, and Wesley Ingle were brothers in the grocery business in Dayton, Ohio. They made tokens for use in their store, and also for other nearby businesses. As merchants the Ingles understood the problems of unauthorized copying of trade tokens. They came up with the idea of a patented design, which no reputable die sinker would copy and anyone who did could be prosecuted for patent infringement!

In the summer of 1908 the Ingles began making tokens that were marked INGLE SYSTEM and, usually, COPYRIGHT or COPYRIGHTED. The Ingles obtained a patent for their Ingle System brand, consisting of the word INGLE emblazoned across a small triangle. Manufacture of tokens featuring this design began in mid-1909 and continued until 1914. These tokens generally are marked INGLE SYSTEM, with the caveat PAT. JUN. 1909 (or PAT'D. JUN, 1909) and may or may not bear the Ingle brand. Scriptors know this design as IS-09.

Ingle System suffered the usual growing pains of any new company. There were several changes in management, and even their location changed from the blacksmith shop near their Dayton grocery store to a factory owned by one of the company officials in Reading, Ohio.

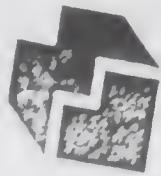

Ingle System obtained a patent on April 7, 1914 for a new design. The Ingle brand is usually larger and the legend PAT. APR. 7, 1914 replaces the old patent date in the new design, which we know as IS-14. Around 1914 or 1915 Jerry Shierloh joined the Ingle firm. We will see more about him and the triangle later. Tokens bearing the IS-14 design were made until the company ceased operations as the Ingle System at the end of June, 1919.

Ingle System tokens were generally made of brass or nickel-plated brass, but copper and aluminum tokens are also known. At least one bi-metallic token is reported. Ingle usually made the five cent denomination in a different metal from the other denominations. For example, if the other denominations are brass, the five cent piece is made of nickel-plated brass, and vice versa.

It is believed that the Ingle System started the practice of perforating tokens with cut-outs. There are several theories to explain the custom of punching letters, figures or designs through tokens but I have yet to find a truly satisfactory answer to this question. The most logical reason is that cut-outs provided quick identification at a glance, so that harried store clerks would not accept another company's scrip.

Lloyd Wagaman, author of a very informative book, INGLE SYSTEM SCRIP, estimates that 5% or less of Ingle System's production was struck for coal or lumber companies. For collectors of coal scrip the greatest contribution of the Ingle System was the idea of patented design tokens, or system scrip. Ingle System was not the first to come up with the idea of patented design scrip, but they certainly were the first to widely market their idea.

In future issues of SCRIP TALK we will learn about the Insurance Credit System, Ingle-Shierloh Company, and Osborne Register Company.
